

Strategy

The objective of this sub-fund is to replicate as closely as possible the rising phases of the benchmark index while reducing risk during periods of decline. To achieve this, behavioural finance parameters are used to optimise both the timing of specific and sector-related decisions and the strategic allocations.

Fund manager comment

As expected, the Equity market has shrugged off the strong development of the new variant. As said, we think we have enough tools to get through this new but seemingly more benign pandemic phase.

After a double test of the technical support just above the 4000 points on the EuroStoxx50 index gauge, we assisted to a more sustained recovery.

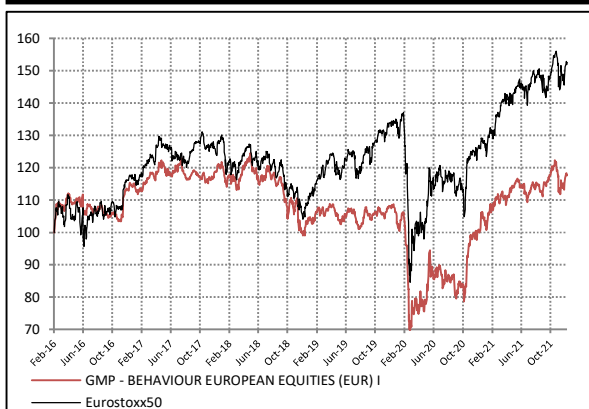

Cyclicals, travel & leisure, construction and banks have staged a nice recovery whereas energy remained stable. The benchmark registered a performance of + 5.79 % compared to +4.97 % for the fund. Historical volatility has increased in December and stands at 17.01 % on a 100 days basis for the index compared to 13.48 % for the fund.

We continue to think that there will be a very modest economic impact from the latest pandemic developments. Markets remain quite strong and the latest stress has nonetheless driven the behaviour conditions to a very depressed level which is a good precondition for a further positive development in the index price. We expect that this situation will translate into even better equity market valuation over the next 6 months.
